Praise for workers

The construction works at the Ohaupo/Lorne/Kahikatea intersection in Hamilton have kept me spellbound and praising daily the workers of all trades – the excavators, the drain and block layers, the plasterers, the electricians, the manual spade and mechanical workers, the truck drivers, the rollers, and many more – as I observe the way these men of all ages, including many senior of retirement age, of all ethnic backgrounds, work diligently non-stop in all weather conditions and many a time through the night.

How is it that there is little mention of such incredible planning? Of such a demonstration of what New Zealand workers are all about?

The planners, the coordinators, the workers are world-class and worthy of praise. So thank you men – you are doing a great job.
